

Season 2 Episode 25

An Evening on the Edge of Reality

Mason is in the park and he sets up a tall machine. Mason has his computer hooked up to it. He looks over data on his computer. Mason said, "If I hook my calibration chip into this machine, it could tell me the future of everything." Mason looks at the screen. It shows Mason getting kidnapped and having horrifying danger done to him. Then it shows Jason getting kidnapped by street thugs and being placed into a machine from something out of science fiction. Mason hits the machine and he said, "Work properly you stupid thing. There is no way any of this could happen today." Just then, Dr. Bloomsberg with a full head of hair enters the scene. He said, "This is a mighty fine machine you have here, Mason." Mason takes a look at his face and he gets a painful black and white flash back of him being tested by Dr. Bloomsberg. Mason said, "Holy crap!" Dr. Bloomsberg said, "Now, now Mason. What is this machine of yours?" Mason said, "I remember you. I remember what you did. You are not going to trick me again." Mason grabs his laptop and he runs away with it. He runs to the edge of the park. He runs past someone building a tower of cards. Mason runs past Jason and Pamela playing some game on handheld systems that are connected to each other. They see Mason zip by. Pamela said, "What's got into him this time?" Jason said, "He probably forgot something and he needs it in a few seconds and forgot his remote lab again." They see Dr. Bloomsberg run after Mason. Jason said, "That's Dr. Bloomsberg." Pamela said, "You know that guy?" Jason said, "He tricked us once into doing an inhuman test. We should do something." Pamela said, "I'm sure your twin has this under his belt. He knows more than anyone in the world."

Mason runs to the edge of the park. He sees the cops at a cop car parked outside the park. Mason runs for the police. Mason is short on breath. Mason said, "Man, chasing me. He want me, he want to (huff, huff, huff)." Mason falls over in pain from running. Dr. Bloomsberg finds Mason. He said, "Ah, Mason. I've been wanting to talk to you. It is time for your state mandated test. Come with me now." Dr. Bloomsberg picks up Mason and he walks down the street with him. They walk out of the park and Mason is brought to the back of an armored car. Mason is thrown in the back. Mason looks all dizzy and he is in pain. Lucy is in the back of the car. Lucy said, "Hi Mason. Remember me?" Mason said, "Of course I remember you, you dream penetrator." Lucy said, "C'mon, that was some time ago. It is all different now. What's that you got there?" Mason said, "It is my data laptop. I have specs on the future with this thing." Mason opens it and he shows Lucy the data on the laptop. Lucy said, "You really do have a great imagination." Mason said, "This thing said I would get kidnapped today and Jason would be tortured by thugs and... It was working this whole time and I didn't listen to it. I guess this is me paying the price for not listening." Mason takes out his cellphone and he presses 911 on it. Then Mason thinks and he remembers that his test was set up by the government and the police did nothing back at the park. Mason dials Jason's number.

Jason and Pamela are playing some game with magical creatures that battle each other in the park on their handheld systems. Jason's cellphone rings. Jason answers it and Mason said, "Jason, it is me. I'm transmitting you coordinates of where I am. I have been kidnapped by that Bloomsberg again. You need to help me. I have data on your future here." Jason looks at his cellphone screen and it shows him getting tortured by unreal looking machines. Jason said, "This must be some kind of joke. I must rescue Mason though." Pamela said, "Go get him, tiger." Jason said, "I can't do this alone. I need your help too." Pamela takes out a large bag filled with gadgets. Pamela said, "You got it." Jason said, "Were you carrying that thing with you this whole time?" Pamela said, "I carry everything with me all the time. Even my pool." Pamela takes out a container and she throws it at the ground and it becomes a fully functional pool. People begin running in it and diving into it.

Jason and Pamela run down the street. Jason looks at his cellphone and Jason said, "He is over here." Jason runs down a street and Pamela follows. They then get surrounded by thugs. Jason said, "This is just what I thought." One of the thugs said, "Looks like some kid with his girlfriend. This is going to be easy." Jason uses Kung Fu moves on the thugs. He knocks one down and he knocks down another one. Pamela takes out a gadget that is a gun that fires out nets. She fires a net out and it captures a small group of the thugs. Pamela takes out a boomerang and she throws it and there is a string with it and it ties up more of the thugs. The thugs seem to ignore Pamela and they go after Jason. They begin pounding Jason. They grab him and they throw him into a building and Jason gets stuck smashed in the wall of the building. The main leader thug grabs Jason and he ties Jason up into a ball and he bounces Jason around the street. He throws Jason and he bounces and deflects off things in the street and the street becomes a pinball game. Jason ends up back in the thug's hands and they walk away with Jason and they completely ignore Pamela. Pamela takes out a long white and blue stick with energy flowing off it. Pamela runs to the thugs and she hits one with the stick and he falls to the ground. Pamela knocks down another one. The leader thug grabs onto Pamela's head and he pushes her into the concrete of the street. Pamela is stuck there. The thugs leave the scene.

Mason is brought into an examination room. The room is plain white and Mason is sitting on a white bed. Mason said, "What is your plan this time? It may have worked last time but you won't fool me again. Fool me once, shame on you, fool me twice, shame on me." Dr. Bloomsberg said, "That is a nice quote from you there. I will write that one down." Now Mason, tell us about your adventures in real life. Tell us about some of your memorable experiences." Mason said, (imagery and visuals show the stories that Mason is telling.) "There was that time where that politician, Russ Powers stripped us of our rights as people so I ran a revolution against him. I won. I got my twin, Jason and our friends such as Captain Fusion and DG and..." Dr. Bloomsberg said, "Tell me more about this, Captain Fusion friend of yours." Mason said, "He is a superhero. I helped bring him out of exile years ago and I helped him become a superhero again. Jason and I have tagged along with him on several occasions to help bring down his villains and other villains that tried to destroy the city. Like in that housing crisis months ago. Captain Fusion built his own city in a box on a tree in the park." Dr. Bloomsberg writes down what Mason has said. Dr. Bloomsberg said, "That sounds very interesting of you."

You really could use these ideas and make a great animated series out of this. You could become a famous name for your work.” Mason said, “I’m not making this up. It is true. Call Captain Fusion right now and ask him.” Dr. Bloomsberg said, “I will.” He goes up to his phone and he calls Captain Fusion.

In Captain Fusion’s office, the phone rings and no one is there. Captain Fusion is outside of the office fighting a large dragon creature. Captain Fusion punches the dragon in the face and he jumps up and pounds the dragon into the ground. The dragon takes out a white flag and waves it around. Captain Fusion said, “Serves you right.” People on the street clap their hands. One man on the street said, “You did well Captain Fusion. The phone lines may be down but we can fix that in a few days.” The man points to the down phone lines. The man then said, “Why don’t we all go to my billion-dollar mansion to party.” Everyone including Captain Fusion runs there. Dr. Bloomsberg goes back to Mason and he said, “It seems your friend does not seem to exist. You do know the difference between fiction and non-fiction, right?” Mason said, “I know that.” Dr. Bloomsberg said, “I don’t think you do.”

Jason is brought to a table filled with gadgets and machines. They tie Jason’s head to the machine and they activate it. Jason ends up in the stars and his clothes get ripped off. He begins to get molded around. He looks at his hands and he sees they are just paddles with no digits on them. He looks at his feet and they do not have any toes. Jason looks down and he said, “Even my... it is all gone.” Jason crashes into a small planet that is made out of clay. Jason tries to get up but he slips in the clay. Jason then gets up. He jumps and he goes far into the space sky but then he crashes back down into the planet with a large splash of clay. Jason said, “Great. Mason is in trouble and I am stuck here in clay. This is just my luck.” Jason looks into the planet and he sees a point of gold sticking up. Jason tries pulling the gold out of the planet and it does not budge. Jason digs around the gold and he finds there is more. It is a large piece of gold. Jason said, “Could there really be a large amount of gold under this small clay like planet?” Jason digs more down into the surface and he finds a large pyramid made out of gold. Jason keeps pulling the clay off it until there is no clay left and the planet is nothing but a large pyramid in space. Rocket boosters come out from the bottom of the pyramid and Jason is sent through the cosmos. He ends up crashing into a planet that looks exactly the same as earth. He lands right beside where Pamela was pushed into the ground. Jason said, “Pamela.” Pamela said, “Jason, what happened to you?” Jason said, “Even I don’t know but we need to get out of here and save Mason.”

Mason is placed into more devices and machines. Dr. Bloomsberg flicks more switches and lightning bolts fly through Mason. Mason’s hair falls out and his head begins to swell in pain. The lightning ends and Mason is freed from the machine. Mason places both of his hands around his head and he said, “My head hurts. I feel an overload of information.” Dr. Bloomsberg said, “You can handle the information, right?” Mason said, “I think I could.” Dr. Bloomsberg said, “I just loaded your mind with all the knowledge of the universe. I just did you a good favor. You can now go on to live a good life and you will not have to believe in that Captain Fusion you keep telling me about.” Mason is given a white shirt with a dark blue suit with a red tie. Dr. Bloomsberg said, “This look will suit you perfectly.” Mason looks in a mirror and he sees he is bald. The swelling of his head stops and his head looks normal again except for the fact that it is bald. Dr. Bloomsberg said, "What is the square root of the maximum of the realm of eon?" Mason said, "Seven ten bolts to the magnitude eight to the maximum of pi." Dr. Bloomsberg said, "That is good. That is very good." Lucy said, "You look good, bald. I like bald guys. I also like smart guys. Maybe you can help me with my calculus homework." Mason said, "I mastered calculus when I was seven. I did not need any of this. You disgust me. I will have the world know about you. I will bring Captain Fusion to you one day. He will confirm that I am not lying." Dr. Bloomsberg said, "I already know he does not exist. There is nothing more you can do." Lucy rubs Mason's head and she said, "Why don't you teach me some more things."

The door to the room they are in blasts open and Jason and Pamela run in. Mason's eyes go big. Mason said, "Jason, what happened to you?" Jason said, "Even I don't know that." Mason said, "Wait... I know this. You were brought into a machine that converted your matter and reality into something odd and bizarre. People have theorized it for years now but no one has ever proved it to be true." Jason points to Dr. Bloomsberg and he said, "You're going down." Dr. Bloomsberg said, "How? I want to see you try." Jason runs and jumps to Dr. Bloomsberg and he does a Kung Fu move on him but it does nothing. Jason uses more Kung Fu attacks on Dr. Bloomsberg and they do nothing. Jason said, "I don't get this. Why are my attacks doing nothing?" Dr. Bloomsberg said, "They altered your physical characteristics. You are as weak as a feather now." Pamela takes out a bunch of gadgets and she throws them at Dr. Bloomsberg. They do nothing. Pamela lights a traditional cartoon bomb and she throws it at Dr. Bloomsberg and the bomb deactivates in the air and it hits the floor and does nothing." Dr. Bloomsberg said, "Face it. You are all useless against me. This is the first phase of my plan. The next phase of my plan is to throw all of you into a town I am going to make which is only for crazy people. It is so crazy people won't have to live in regular mainstream society as you do. I will take credit for all of this and the rest of you will suffer for generations to come because of what was done to you."

Mason listens to all of this. Suddenly, black and white flash backs of villains doing bad things to Mason flash through his head. Dr. Bloomsberg appears in Mason's mind to aggravate Mason even more. Mason loses his grip and he jumps into the air and lightning bolts fly and orbit around his bald head. Mason reaches out and he fires bolts of lightning out of his hands and he destroys all of the machines in Dr. Bloomsberg's lab. Mason slowly falls to the floor. Mason throws blasts of energy at Dr. Bloomsberg. Dr. Bloomsberg dodges the first attack and he moves out of the way of the second attack. Mason creates a large vortex and he sends it at Dr. Bloomsberg and he smashes through a hole in the wall and he goes flying to the other end of the city.

Dr. Bloomsberg crashes at some rich guy's mansion while a party is there. The man gets on the megaphone and he said, "We dedicate this party to the man of the hour, Captain Fusion. Captain Fusion takes the stage. Captain Fusion said, "I'm glad you guys still appreciate my hero work and all I have done for the city." Dr. Bloomsberg sees this and he said, "I must be seeing things. There is no way this could be real."

Mason said, "I know how to undo all of this. Mason uses the energy and Jason returns to normal. Jason said, "Thanks. Now how are we going to fix you. Mason said, "I can undo that in my lab. I know how to reverse anything now." Jason, Mason, and, Pamela are in Mason's lab. Mason steps out of a large chamber and he is back to normal. He is still bald. Mason finds a glass figure of himself with a wig that looks like Mason's normal hair. Mason takes the hair off the figure and puts it on himself. Mason said, "I cannot imagine what it would be like to have power like that." Jason said, "Neither could I." Pamela said, "Now that all of this is over, could we get back to our game?" Jason and Pamela continue with their game.

Dr. Bloomsberg and Lucy are in an alleyway in the street. Dr. Bloomsberg is speaking into a payphone and he said, "Our plan has failed. We do not have Mason in our care right now. We must open up the crazy town as soon as possible. We need to round up all the crazy freaks in the city and bring them into this town."